-Spectator Notes-

A program of enlightened prisoner treatment is being tried at Fort Ord. Works fine, so far. Prisoners, mostly sentenced for being AWOL, who are under less than six months' sentence and are not guilty of felonies, are put into basic training units. They go back to the stockade at night, but during the day undergo regular army classes and problems. The idea was conceived by Lt. Cols. Frederick C. Feil and Maurice C. Holden. The prisoners are abreast of other basic training units, no better and no worse. The Fort feels that the system has much to be said for it over the older system of labor details, and marked time. Apparently the prisoners take pride in their accomplishments too, since two men whose sentences ran out, chose to remain with one of the prisoner companies rather than join a simon pure, regular outfit.

Howard Smith, the portraitist of Gen. Joseph Stillwell, is now in San Miguel, Mexico, busily painting. The products of his labors will be seen in a one-man show at the Art Association in April, when he returns.

Doris Winchell Baker will have a one-man show at the Association this summer too.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Johnson will leave this week for France (Mrs. Johnson's native terrain), where they will select and buy "all sorts" of French things to sell in their new shop. They have a lease on the present location of the Village Shoe Tree, and will open it up sometime in August. The Johnsons will be in France for two months.

Helen Wilson, a secretary of the Carmel Business Association, receives all letters directed to the "Carmel Chamber of Commerce" -- some are honeys.

This week she received one from a man in Connecticut. He said (here it is in full): "Am moving to Calif. soon - hate city life - enjoy good friends - good living. Have heard of Carmel - send all literature. Am fairly independent and financially in good shape. Enjoy casual living - old clothes - swimming - going barefoot, etc. Is Carmel the place?"

"P.S. To be specific - I don't want to be looked on as 'strange' if I walk down 'main street' in dungarees and barefoot - would I?"

There is a small open space between Mark Thomas' new building going up on Dolores and the Little and Tanous office next door. Some wag put up a sign saying "This space-for rent. Suitable for selling fish poles or any other long, narrow objects."

Gorde, the parrot at El Nido, not only enjoys music, he sings along with the piano player. He chants along in a very raspy voice, not very often on key or tune. Every now and then he stops and yells "More Beer," then continues on with his vocalizing.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Bishop on the birth of their daughter.

Gunnar and Barbara Norberg had a pleasant boat ride, at least. They are due back in town today after having sailed from San Francisco to Los Angeles aboard the President Cleveland. The liner leaves S.F. and heads south to pick up the rest of the passengers for the Pacific voyage. The company cannot sell space for the trip between the cities, so the company often invites travel agents to come along.

The Monterey Peninsula Stamp Club got some first-hand evidence of how politics works. The group requested a commemorative stamp for the Wells Fargo centennial. The Postmaster General replied saying it was not possible because the government limit is 12 stamps per year. The local philatelists noted that in 1940 Jim Farley issued 44 special stamps to help out FDR. In 1948, also an election year, Harry got out 30 stamps and won.

The Village Week..

RENT CONTROL AGAIN

This afternoon the Carmel City Council meets with representatives of the Director of Rent Stabilization at a special 4 o'clock session at the city hall. The U.S. officials and the council will attempt to set two dates. One, the date which will be used in figuring rent ceilings, and two, the date the ceilings will take effect.

The entire Monterey Peninsula area has been declared to be a critical housing area, so some controls, including rents, automatically follow. However, each local rent situation is handled separately.

The Carmel Board of Realtors is expected to file immediately a request that the city again be freed of controls, as it has been since last summer.

TB UNIT FINDINGS

The Monterey County mobile chest X-ray unit has reported a finding of 50 cases of clinical significance in two weeks of free service in Monterey County.

The unit, which took 800 films, found five cases of severe tuberculosis, 15 cases of suspended infection, 10 of inactive re-infection, four tumors, and 15 heart cases.

The machine which was bought at a cost of $23,000 was paid for through the sale of Christmas seals and is sponsored by the TB Association.

POSTMASTER FIELD NOW NARROWED TO TWO MEN

The postmaster tangle in Carmel is a little clearer now, anyhow. Of the six applicants for the job, only two have been certificated by the Civil Service Commission. Acting Postmaster Alfred Mollner and Assistant Postmaster Fred J. Myler received notification this week.

The certification is one step in securing the postmaster position. After this is given, the appointment is in the realm of politics - the President makes a choice from the list of qualified applicants and the Senate acts on his recommendation.

The application, contrary to the popular belief, is not an examination. It is a questionnaire and asks for information on the applicant's qualifications. Among the qualifications deemed necessary by the Civil Service board is experience at running a business the size of the post office in-

TENURE POLICY FRAMED

The Carmel school board adopted a statement of policy regarding teacher tenure which is due to be in effect in Carmel schools next year. The policy supplements the tenure provisions set forth in the state education code.

Basically the statement is a guide to help the board and the school administrators in picking superior teachers for the Carmel system. It sets forth the qualifications necessary in the superior teacher.

TEN CENTS A CALL

Pay phone rates starting today will be 10 cents for local phone calls. At the same time, the 3% temporary surcharge placed on private phones will come off.

BLOOD BANK

NEXT THURSDAY

This month's Blood Bank day for the Monterey Peninsula is next Thursday, March 27. The mobile blood unit of the American Red Cross will call at the USO, Monterey, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on that day to receive blood from Peninsula donors.

The Red Cross and the Department of Defense are renewing their plea for more generous donations. Even though casualties in Korea have lessened, hospitalized servicemen are still in need of plasma and whole blood. There must also be a plasma reserve built up for the military, it was announced at Red Cross headquarters, and long range needs for community and civilian use are still critical.

Appointments should be made to facilitate procurement procedures at the Blood Bank. Call 7-6921 for your appointment. Transportation is furnished if requested.

CANCER SOCIETY FILM

A film by the American Cancer Society will be shown at the Hill Theater next Tuesday at 2 p.m. to all interested, and Dr. John Gratiot, of the Monterey Unit of the American Cancer Society will speak.

The Monterey Civic Club will be hostesses to a tea following the film and talk.

Tickets may be obtained at the door, or by calling 7-2350 or 2-6803. They are free.

An Editorial

The accusation that the Carmel City Council packed the budget to justify the imposition of the city sales tax is incorrect and misleading. The decisions on which the budget was based were made openly and, in our judgement, soundly.

The largest new item included was the $20 across-the-board wage increase to city employees. No citizen can argue that this increase was not necessary to keep valuable workers for the city. Under it, for example, police patrolmen were raised from $280 per month to $300 and street workers from $240 to $260. The total expenditure involved was $16,380.

The second large item was $11,070 to provide for pensions. This is where sales tax opponents say the budget was packed. A look at the record shows this not to be the case.

The council acted on the premise that some sort of pension security was necessary for the city employees. Unlike other workers, there is a definite ceiling to the wages they can expect, and their wages offer no chance for them to provide for retirement themselves.

Social Security became available to city employees for the first time last year. Social Security in itself is not an adequate income for retirement. The council felt that Social Security plus some private insurance program would answer the employees' needs.

CAMPAIGNS - - RED CROSS, AND CONGRESSIONAL

MRS. JOHN A. CLANCY, who is one of the Red Cross' volunteer workers for its fund raising campaign, is shown turning over collections to Lloyd G. Weer, residential campaign chairman. With one more week to go, the Red Cross has so far brought in $17,087. This is $5,056 short of its quota of $22,143. Carmelites are urged to "Answer the Call" for more. -- Arthur McEwen photo.

WILL HAYES, Santa Barbara candidate for the 13th Congressional district, visited this area for three days last week. Included in his rounds were a luncheon at the Carmel Valley Country Club and a tea at the home of Mrs. Paul Low on Ridgewood Road. Here during the great rains, Hayes' appearance was "By Candlelight" most of the time.

COUNCIL DEFENDS TAX

The Carmel City Council has issued two papers this week in an attempt to clarify its stand on the sales tax issue.

One, a letter from Councilman John Chitwood to Candidate Francis Whitaker, gives the background of the council's decision to adopt the city sales tax.

The other is in the form of a pamphlet entitled "The Equity of the City Sales and Use Taxes." It is being printed for distribution by Mayor Allen Knight and Councilmen Gene Ricketts, Donald Craig, and Chitwood.

also name three members to the city council. Knight and Ricketts are running for reelection on the basis that the retention of the tax is necessary for the sound financing of the city. Whitaker led the campaign to have the abolition of the sales tax put on the ballot. Others in the race include Horace Lyon, Mrs. Geraldine Smith, and Reed Pollock.

In the letter, Chitwood answers Whitaker's charge that the pension plan for city employees was put into the budget to justify the enactment of the sales tax. (The question of the pensions is also on the April ballot). Chitwood cites three reasons for the adoption of the tax.

"1. To raise additional revenue without increasing the property tax burden.

"2. To be prepared for the state-wide adoption of the city sales tax and not be at the disadvantage of being caught without one.

"3. To be able to cover the pension cost from surplus revenue that would come in from the... tax WHICH IS NOT THE SAME THING AS PUTTING A PROPERTY TAX BURDEN ON THE TAXPAYER before the council knew whether employees' pensions would be granted or not."

The pamphlet issued by the councilmen gives 10 arguments for the sales tax. Included in these is a remarkable proof that the per capita cost of the tax to Carmel citizens is $1.32. The $1.32 came from State Senate Committee tables and checking the figure proves it to be almost exact.

Because the actual income from the tax amounts to $9.16 per capita, it must be assumed that the difference is paid by non-residents buying in Carmel. The council reasons that because the non-residents increase the costs of city services, they should help pay for these services.

The rest of the arguments deal with the tax load the property owner already carries and the inevitability of an increase in the state sales tax.

USO CARNIVAL ALL PENINSULA EVENT

Many Carmel residents will take part in the Third Annual USO Carnival to be given at the USO social hall, Webster street and El Estero in Monterey tonight (Friday). The purpose of the carnival is to raise a hospitality fund with which to entertain service men on the Peninsula during the year, particularly during the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's holidays when they need "a home away from home."

There will be an AWVS booth with Mrs. George Yates, chairman, Mrs. Fenton Collins, Mrs. Mary Godbold, Mrs. Rodney Mason, Mrs. John Walsh, of Carmel, in charge, and the Kiwanis club of Carmel, with Howell Armor, Robert Cairns, Col. George Baxter, Pres. Tom Elston, Edward Nevada, and Joe Gledhill will have charge of a booth.

The Rotary Club, the Carmel Lions, and many merchants of Carmel will aid the carnival. Mrs. Nora McCaffrey Law of Carmel will tell fortunes. Officers' wives, many of whom live in Carmel, will have charge of a booth. There will be 36 booths containing games of all sorts and three of them will have home made candy, pies and cakes.

Virtually 30,000 service men who are quartered in the various military installations on the Peninsula are entertained every week in the year at the USO. The hospitality fund is used for trips to National parks in the district, for dinners, and in various ways not covered by the regular USO budget.

The Navy Post Graduate School orchestra will furnish music for the taxi dance, which is one of the many features of the carnival. There also is to be a nursery for the small fry, where they will be shown Mickey Mouse and other movies during the evening, so parents will be able to park their children at the USO and avoid having to hire a baby sitter.

Admission to the carnival, which lasts from 7 to 12 p.m., is free and there will be a valuable door prize.

CHS FEDERAL AID HIGHER THIS YEAR

Carmel High has found, on totting up the number of students whose parents are either in the service, or in the employ of military establishments, that its basis for federal aid claims will be higher this year than last.

The program of federal aid is designed to award additional funds to certain approved schools on a basis proportionate to the number of service connected students which it educates. On the basis of reports made last year, Carmel has since received $4,440.44. The new list of eligibles which will be forwarded from here soon gives over 100 students, half again as many as last year.

If the distribution (a pro-rata apportioning of a fixed sum among the approved schools) remains the same this year as last, Carmel should receive over $6,600. The first installment of this amount would be given in June and the second in mid-winter next year.

carmel library notes

Best-selling fiction writer Samuel Shellabarger has turned to biography in his new book Lord Chesterfield and His World. As his works of fiction (Captain from Castile, etc.) were noted for their careful historical research, so is this book a chronicle of 18th century life and manners as well as the story of a fascinating and witty man.

Lawrence Langner, who was one of the founders of the Theatre Guild, tells his life story in The Magic Curtain. In his distinguished career, Langner came into contact with practically every figure of any importance in the American theatre and his book contains a wealth of dramatic history. There are 113 photographs, including a number not before published, which the author took of Bernard Shaw, and many from noted Theatre Guild productions.

A current Broadway production is now available in book form at the library. Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse's Remains to be Seen, which still flourishes in New York despite rather lukewarm notices, is a comedy-mystery of the Arsenic and Old Lace variety.

A great deal of expert advice has been culled by William Targ in the new book A Reader for Writers. In this volume, the beginning writer is offered a selection of pieces on all phases of creative writing by such authors as Anthony Trollope, Paul Gallico, Sinclair Lewis, Robert Louis Stevenson, Edith Wharton, William Saroyan, Mark Twain, and James T. Farrell.

The lowly spider, which arouses revulsion in most of us, afforded Naturalist John Crompton sufficient interest and information for a new book,

The Life of the Spider. According to Crompton, the spider shuns the bureaucracy of the ant and lives a much more exciting and adventurous life. He tells of their exploits in ballooning, lassoing birds, and deep-sea diving.

The new fiction distributed this week includes Erich Maria Remarque's Spark of Life, a story of one man's ordeal in a German concentration camp. Ernestine Carey, who co-authored the very popular Cheaper by the Dozen, has a new work of fiction called Jumping Jupiter. Rosamond Marshall, who wrote Kitty and Duchess Hotspur, has dredged up another historical heroine in Jane Hadden. Other new fiction includes The Earthbreakers by Ernest Haycox, Port of Call by Maxwell Griffith, Slant of the Wind by Garland Roark, and Search for a Hero by Thomas H. Phillips. New mysteries are Himalayan Assignment by F. van Wyck Mason and Murder

Twice Removed by Muriel Bradley.

It Isn't the Heat—It's the Hide!

Big discussion after the Grange meeting Friday night. Tik Anderson was arguing that hogs were lots more affected by the hot weather than cattle. Skeeter Morgan declared that it wasn't so—that he never saw any hogs bothered by the hot sun like his cows were.

I was glad when Rusty Robinson stepped in.

"Boys," he says, "don't get so riled up. It all depends on what color the livestock are. Hogs or cattle, the ones with light-colored coats absorb less heat from the sun's rays than animals with dark coats. So you're both right!"

From where I sit, so many useless arguments could be avoided if a person would remember he doesn't have all the right on his side. Reminds me of folks who insist that coffee, for instance, is the only drink, forgetting that other people have a right to a glass of beer now and then. If we wouldn't get so "het up" about our prejudices—we'd all be better off!

taining hobby. Col. John R. Wright, president of the club, read letters which he received in reply to a request for a commemorative stamp honoring the 100th anniversary of Wells Fargo Co. Four new members were welcomed into the club: L. B. Gold, M. T. Joseph, Monterey, K. E. Becker, Pacific Grove, and Mrs. Emily Balsam of Carmel Highlands.

JR. STATESMEN TO SACRAMENTO CONFERENCE

A delegation headed by Sue McCloud will journey to Sacramento for the annual Junior Statesmen's conference, April 4 and 5. The meeting will be addressed by Governor Earl Warren.

The junior statesmen are a high school age group devoted to learning government procedure and understanding of democratic processes. They debate public measures, practice parliamentary procedure, and carry on mock legislation. Presided over by Sue, who won last year's scholarship to a six week Mills College summer session on Junior Statesmanship, the Carmel High group has 30 members. Joni MacKenzie is vice president, Peggy Weaver, secretary, and Chris Von Peski is parliamentarian. All of their meetings are conducted under strict parliamentary laws.

The April 4-5 conference will feature, in addition to Gov. Warren's talk, mock sessions of legislatures, and debates on current public and congressional issues. Four or five delegates will attend from Carmel, and each may take three observers.

COMING ELECTIONS

primary election closes April 10, the secretary of state has released some preliminary figures. These figures are not broken down by city, so information on Carmel is included. However, registration for the April 8 city election totals 2,540.

In regard to the city election, City Clerk Peter Mawdsley is sending out sample ballots to registered voters. This procedure is necessary when a referendum is presented. The measure to repeal the sales tax requires a sample ballot.

According to the state preliminary figures, as usual, the Democrats far outnumber the Republicans, almost half again as many.

About 4.5 million are registered voters in the state. Of the total, 2.5 million are Democrats and 1.7 Republican. Of the remaining 177,000, the great majority, 155,000 declined to state party preference. The rest are Independent Progressives, 10,000, Prohibition, 5,000, and miscellaneous, 6,000.

The preliminary 1952 figures show an increase in registered voters of 733,585 over the last presidential primary in 1948.

You're off in a Swirl of Power!

WE'RE willing to wager that not one person in a hundred knows what really goes on inside an automobile engine—so let's take this by easy stages.

The instant you nudge Buick's Fireball 8 Engine into action—a whole string of things starts to happen.

Eight sparks begin to crackle in well-timed sequence. Eight pistons start gliding up and down with rhythmic precision. Eight pairs of valves dance open and closed—to let fuel charges in, exhaust gases out of cylinder after cylinder.

All right, you say, what's so complex about that? Can't anyone build an engine that does this to perfection?

Well, we'd better add, these things happen at the rate of more than 10,000 times per mile—and that's 100 times per second at 35 miles an hour!

So—it's important to know that Buick uses a deep-breathing valve-in-head design that shoots a fuel charge in—cleans exhaust gases out—in a hurry.

It's important to know that all the power released by the fuel concentrates its driving force right on the head of each Buick piston. (Everyone who has recently built "new" high-compression engines copied this "Buick first.")

But most important of all—Buick adds one more twist which others still haven't copied.

Every charge of fuel rushing into a Buick engine becomes a twisting, swirling, high-compressed ball that flashes with sudden, consuming completeness the instant the spark sets it afire.

And to add this all up: clean, complete combustion—10,000 times per mile—is the secret of getting more power—more miles—from each gallon of gasoline.

So we're not simply using picture words when we tell you that Buick—and only Buick—has a FIREBALL ENGINE—or that you're off in a swirl of power with one of these high-powered performers under the hood.

1952 has brought a lot of sparkling new improvements which you'll want to see and admire when you come to our showrooms.

But the thrill of thrills is still what you and a Buick—and a Fireball 8 Engine—can do out on the road. When do you want to try a sample?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

..LocalLights..

Mite sized, Carolyn Elstob, has led a life of such activity as would make large men quake. Since the day she was born in Philadelphia her small, and highly competent steps have led her through five careers, and tens of countries.

Philadelphia held the Elstob attention just long enough to get educated, whence she lit out for New York, intent on a career of singing. With a happy faculty for meeting and impressing people, Carolyn had been there only a short time, when a singing engagement led to her meeting with Theodore Roosevelt. (He was eating apple pie, at the time of the historic introduction.) Seems that the U.S. was involved in a war, and that Mr. Roosevelt's sister, Mrs. Robinson, thought Carolyn was just the red-headed ambulance driver needed. No sooner said, than Carolyn was bounding across the roads of France at the wheel of an ambulance, bid farewell by Mrs. James Roosevelt, conveying Teddy's best wishes.

The war proved big enough to occupy her attention for its duration, but when it was over, Carolyn was far from ready for a rest. Instead, she formed a minstrel show outfit, which spent the next year entertaining troops. She gave that up after a year to return to the States and a job with the American Singers travelling company of "The Mikado." She played Pitty Sing, a role for which her red hair, tiny size, and big blue eyes well qualified her. There was one trouble, however, that even the Elstob energy couldn't overcome. She had been in a mild gas raid during the war, and suffered continual attacks of laryngitis. It was a handicap in a voice career, and so after the year with the Mikado, she switched to journalism.

Worcester, Massachusetts, was the first community to benefit from her typewriter, and after two years there, she moved on to the Boston Herald. Three years later she was society editor.

It was along about then that another major change of careers came about. Edward Filene, of Boston's famed department store, had organized the Filene Peace Ship, the publicity of which Carolyn had handled while working for the Herald. He was so impressed with the Elstob zip, that he asked her to join Filene's as merchandising consultant. After tucking the field of merchandising under her cap, Carolyn went on to Bullock's of Los Angeles, where she became a stylist, and thence back to New York where she was advertising manager of Gimble's.

A trip on behalf of Gimble's to Europe, led to Carolyn's becoming publicity manager for Saks abroad, with headquarters in Paris. From there she jumped to Bloomingdale's, opening their Import room, complete with Elstob chosen European products and French models, also imported for the occasion.

Shortly after the Bloomingdale success, Carolyn jumped to the advertising field where she was connected with the J. M. Mathes agency doing the American Viscose account.

Then came a dilemma. She was simultaneously asked to be Fashion Co-ordinator of Harpers' magazine, and as well to become Mrs. Frederick Elstob. She chose the latter. Fred was, at that time, Comptroller of I.B.M., a job that involved not only a great deal of work...but travelling all over the world. Carolyn describes their passports at this time of life as "measled." The job also involved being one of T. J. Watson's "family," a position that involved the pleasant but wearing job of dining and hob-nobbing some six or seven nights a week.

Lucy and Mary Elstob were born during this period, both New Yorkers. Lucy is now at Carmel High, and Mary a fifth grader at Sunset.

Fred's health seemed after a time to be at odds with the IBM job, so in a big decision, the Elstobs left the metropolis and came to California. Two years were spent at Piedmont, and then the Elstobs came to Carmel.

Carolyn graced the staff of the then infant Spectator, until 1949, when the family embarked for England. Fred's family home is in Surrey.

It was during this period that the plans for what now occupies Carolyn and Fred became set. There was much talk in England of upping the dollar income of the British Empire. There was at the same time an American E.C.A. board hard at work in London, doing its utmost to help England to raise the dollars so that England might in turn fulfill its obligation to the U.S. Carolyn felt that there was a crying need for mutual interpretation of American to English, and vice versa.

With strong backing from Sir Cecil Weir, Executive Chairman for the Dollar Exports Board, she became an employee of that board, touring England, and doing a series of interpretive articles on English industrialists and their products. These came to the United States and were published in numerous magazines, among them Town and Country.

It was then that Carolyn decided that it was perhaps a little futile to build up interest in English products if there was no outlet for them in this country. It was then that with the blessings of the Bank of England and the Export Board, she decided to open showrooms in the United States, where the "Best from Britain" could be displayed and sold at English costs to Americans. The non-profit organization would pour dollars into Britain which would, in their turn, enable Britain to pay its debt to the United States. It was a move to lift English goods out of their luxury category, and to bring them to Americans in the same uses in which the English buy them...as everyday possessions.

This, then, is the latest chapter. Plans from here run the gamut, and involve opening other display rooms on the West Coast, working to increase the American appreciation and purchase of English goods.

In person, Carolyn is impressive. Small, infinitely vivacious, she seems a perfectly chosen liaison officer, a combination of the grace of England and the incredible energy of the United States.

PEBBLE BEACH RACES PROMISE MUCH ACTION

This weekend most of the sports cars which will race at Pebble Beach are fighting it out in the Palm Springs road race. The outcome of Sunday's 100-mile event will have a powerful effect on the April 20 meeting here.

The Palm Springs circuit differs from Pebble Beach in that it is run on city streets. The winner at Palm Springs is by no means sure of another victory here. The 2.4-mile local circuit gives a definite advantage to the cars with acceleration and speed.

The amazing Cunningham is expected to make its West Coast debut at Palm Springs. This car, built by Briggs Cunningham, Florida sportsman, has two important wins to its credit in U.S. racing. Last year it took both the Elkhart Lake and Watkins Glen races. A big and heavy car by sports car standards, the Cunningham is powered by either a modified Chrysler or Cadillac motor. In the two races mentioned, it beat the hitherto dominant Allard with Cadillac power.

Among the Allards which will see action both Sunday and here in April are Jim Chapman's and Tom Carsten's. Last year, Michael Graham chalked up the fastest practice lap in Chapman's car. But bad luck plagued him (as it has so often) and he was a non-starter due to transmission trouble. Bill Pollock won the race in Carsten's very fast car.

This year's Pebble Beach event will include two 100-mile races. The cars of 1,500 cubic centimeters displacement and under will race separately from the bigger cars. The 1,500 and under event will include Roger Barlow's special Simca, a consistent winner, the amazing rear-engined Porsche driven by John von Neumann, modified MGs, and America's only production sports car, the Crosley. About 50 cars are expected to compete in this event.

The big cars will include such marques as Allard, Cunningham, Aston-Martin, Jaguar XK-120, and various "specials." The Jaguar is coming back among the larger-motored cars and usually wins its class. This is due to the modifications made by owners.

The Jaguar XJ was not designed as a competition car, but due to its very high top speed (over 130 mph) and handling qualities, American drivers began racing them. Although they won many races, Jaguars were handicapped by weight and drivers were bothered by brake failure—a fault which came to be called "Jaguaritis."

Because the car was designed for high-speed touring, the brakes were not adequately cooled due to body design. The specials have corrected this fault, lightened the body, and made other minor changes to make the Jaguar again a potent competitor.

The two events promise to make the Pebble Beach race meeting an exciting affair.

RECORD PURSE FOR SALINAS RODEO

Always of interest to Peninsulites, the Salinas Rodeo this year, from June 19-22, will be of special appeal in that the purse totals a record $3,450. This $650 above any previous year promises to attract some top riders to the event.

More than 1,000 horses and riders are expected to appear in this Spring's show.

SPORTS CAR IN ACTION

PENINSULA VETERANS MEETING ON MONDAY

A meeting of all Peninsula veterans, regardless of whether or not they belong to a veterans' organization, has been called for Monday at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall in Monterey.

The program has been instituted by the Commanders' Call, an inter-organization group of Monterey, to discuss the handling of veterans' affairs on the county level of government. A. B. Jacobson, David Gill, and John J. Redhead, aspirants for the county supervisors job, have been asked to attend, as well as the regular County Service officer from Salinas, Harold W. Wildman.

The Commanders' Call stresses that the meeting is of utmost importance to all veterans and that the meeting may influence the future welfare of the local Veterans' Service Office.

VETERANS' DENTAL CARE

A new speed-up in veterans' dental care has been announced by Claude S. Estill, Monterey Veterans' Service officer. Applications for dental care of service incurred troubles, if made within one year of discharge, will receive immediate examination. This is a change from the old system where application was made first, and examination followed. Now both are done at once, with only one delay, the checking of the current dental condition against service records, before treatment.

Further information on Veterans' out patient dental and medical care may be had from the V.A. at 559 Pacific street, Monterey.

NEW GUIDE DOG

Eben Whittlesey has returned to town with a new guide dog, Comet. He is one of the recent graduates of the San Rafael school of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc.

A member of the legal firm of Robison and Whittlesey, the attorney and his first dog, Milt, were a common sight at civic and social affairs. Now Milt, who served 11 years, is to enjoy old age at the Whittlesey home.

Guide Dogs for the Blind is entirely supported by donations. In the current campaign for funds, the membership drive for the San Francisco Bay region has reached its goal of $70,000.

An Editorial (con't.)

After such a combination was studied, the employees themselves said they were interested in the State pension plan and wanted it studied.

As the budget was being drafted, the council made it clear that it wanted to grant some sort of pensions or would consider a wage raise to offset cost of living increases. Something had to be put in the budget to cover these expected costs. In line with the city's established sound financial policies, the budget included the maximum foreseeable cost.

It must be remembered that no tax money will be received by the city until next January on the budget (and tax rate) adopted this summer.

The approval of a pension plan rests with Carmel citizens through their vote on the advisory question in the city election April 8.

No matter how the people vote, the council cannot be blamed for providing for any eventuality. This is only good business procedure.

The Amateur Gardener

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By CHARLES W. DELANEY

The major effort in gardening should be to attain color, form, and harmony. Starting with the entrance gate to the house, which everyone observes first, should be a display of color harmonizing with the house and fixed objects. This immediately gives a feeling of welcome and hospitality; here we "put our best foot foremost" (as they say in Pennsylvania.)

GARDEN ENTRANCES

It is always a sad sight to enter a front gate and find an illkept neglected yard, with so frequently, a pile of trash: dried grass and dead weeds, as well as unhealthy shrubs, trees, and bare spots of ground. I have heard it explained, half apologetically, as "Carmel atmosphere" or "it is a native garden." That is an idea; but why make it look so ghastly? We have so much beauty lavished upon us by nature and climate.

We can, with little effort, create an entrance with paths delightful and beautiful to sight, smell, and touch, which will extend a welcoming hand and create a feeling of gracious living and contentment with life.

Each of us has a different reaction to a garden. There are a few who like to know plants by their Latin names; some accept the thesis that all foliage is green, failing to see the different shades of green, such as olive green, silver gray, cypress green, the browns and yellows, or that the upper and under sides of leaves are of different tones and shades. And, finally, there are those who go into ecstasy over color and harmony of flowers. The real gardener combines all of these and delights in well-balanced appreciation of all that man and nature have so lavishly given us.

"Blessed are the meek for they shall inherit the earth." The meek are filled with humility for all the blessings of life and the privilege of working in and with the soil. The earth that we inherit is where we work and live. If we can make the part of the earth we inhabit more beautiful, as we are working at it we learn more of nature and the divine purpose of life. The returns are in these as well as in health and happiness.

DESIGN AND PLACEMENT

Every garden has its own problems in developing a design--many times it is a case of trial and error, and if an error is made plants can always be moved. There may be too much shade by trees on your own or neighbor's ground, in which case plants that thrive by nature in shade should be used, such as fuschias, azaleas, camellias, rhododendrons, begonias, meadow-rue, columbine, fox-gloves, canterbury-bells, cinerarias, star-of-Bethlehem, and ferns.

Gardens in full sunshine offer opportunity for hundreds of plants. The Glitter marigold, the carnation type marigold, the dwarf type for edging or base planting, the daisies--marconi, Esther Reed, and shastas--yellow coreopsis, delphinium, pansies, geum, asters, carnations, stocks, snapdragons, and of course the fine pelargonium and geraniums.

Some may wish to plant a garden of native California plants and shrubs. The natives require less watering and much less work after they are established. You have many from which to choose and here is a partial list:

Ceanothus--the wild lilac comes in different shades of blue and lilac; fremontia mexicana; barberry; western red-bud;

snow-berry; toyon; california bay, and elder; California poppy; baby blue eyes; mimulus;

clarkia; lupines; linaria; wild iris; sun-flowers; many sedums and succulents; wood ferns, and chain ferns.

"CAUGHT IN THE SQUEEZE"

Have YOU noticed recent newspaper headlines about our Monterey Peninsula population zooming up 10,000, exclusive of military personnel, in just the last two years? That's close to a 20 percent increase.

Perhaps you've not been in position to quite realize the rapid population change here, but we have. It's our business to know.

During the past decade we have watched closely the increasingly rapid growth of the Peninsula and prepared for needed expansions. And we've been very much concerned because we're "caught in the squeeze!" And we can't help ourselves, and it affects you personally, and every other resident of our beautiful peninsula.

Our business is to continue to deliver excellent mountain water in adequate volume to meet the requirements of our service area on the Monterey Peninsula (no matter how fast it grows) at the lowest possible cost to the consumer. We try to plan ahead insofar as humanly possible so that we will continue to deliver palatable, safe water for our rapidly expanding community's needs in the years to come, at lowest possible rates.

Because economical operation of a water company is a highly specialized business, naturally there are many things about it the average person wouldn't know. We have the same headaches as any other business, but because we are classed correctly as a public utility, your State Utilities Commission sets the rates we may charge. Under severe inflationary conditions where workers' pay goes up partially due to cost of living, and materials costs and taxes jump, other businesses can pass on costs immediately and still stay in business.

Your Utilities Commission sets rates so that under good and prudent management, a fair return on invested capital only, is allowed. No provision is made for an utility to build up a surplus with which to provide capital extensions and improvements to care for the needs of such a rapidly growing community as ours. Therefore, the only way we can provide adequately for present water users AND the new population's needs, is by sale of additional securities.

Again, your State Utilities Commission closely regulates sale of such securities. For instance, among several needed future improvements is a new pipeline from the Carmel Valley to the East Monterey and Seaside areas. As we need funds for such capital investments, we are authorized to sell enough securities to provide such funds.

Such securities must be sold in the highly competitive financial markets. If these do not provide fair return on invested capital, and therefore are not sold, we have no fund available to finance the additional service our community requires.

Because this is a tremendously interesting although involved subject, as manager of the water company here, I'd like to ask in the American spirit of fair play that you hear the facts before you make up your mind about our request for a rate increase.
